*An Exploration of Women Students'
Research and Creativity Related To Women*

To: All Undergrad
and Graduate Women
Students,

Are you involved in academic research or creative pursuits that you'd like to share and explore with the women around you? Would you like to learn about the interests and ideas of your sister students in matters related to women?

WSSA (Women's Studies Student Association) is organizing at the Simone de Beauvoir Institute a day-long event, to be held on Wednesday, March 12, 1986 the aim of which is to offer to all women students the opportunity to share with each other their research and/or creative endeavors.

We welcome to the day's activities an input of interests as diverse as possible. If you have research papers, proposals for papers that could be presented, artwork, film, diaries, journals or ideas for group discussion, please contact us as soon as possible!

You may either submit proposals and papers (20-30 minutes in length) to the WSSA mailbox located at the Simone de Beauvoir Institute, 2170 Bishop OR call:

Janet Wiegand, 489-9574 or Jo-Anne Beggs, 649-5627 (days)
for further information.

The deadline for submissions is Friday, February 21.

We hope you'll join us in sharing and celebrating women students' research and creativity.
